Background of the Lupp

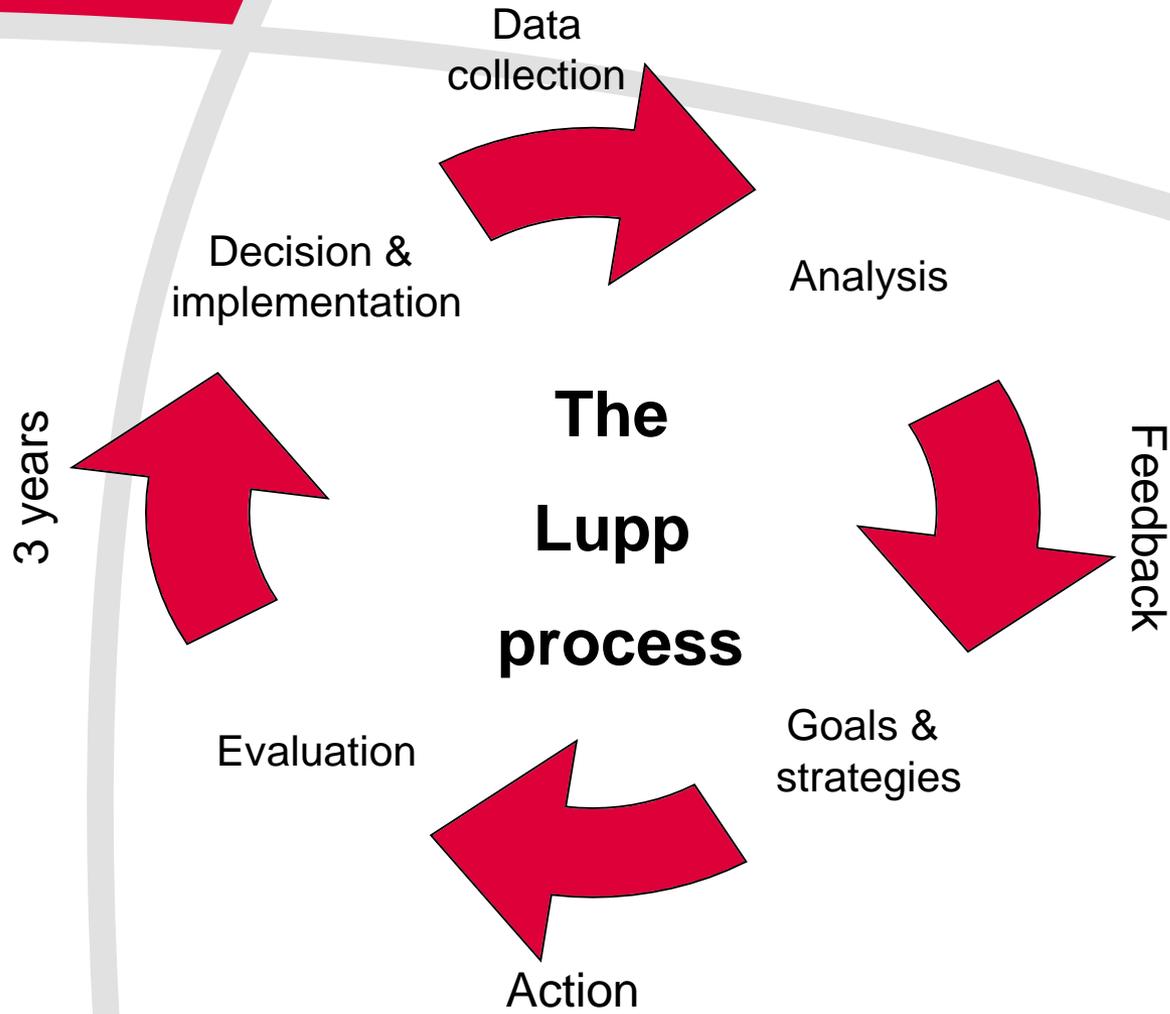

- The Swedish national board for Youth Affairs started developing the Lupp (Local follow-up of youth policy) survey in 2001
- It's a way of getting a knowledge-based, cross-sectoral youth policy
- More than half of Sweden municipalities have done the Lupp-survey which gives a national comparability
- 10 Municipalities out of 12 in Kalmar region, around 40 schools and 3.000 pupils participated in the last LUPP survey 2012.

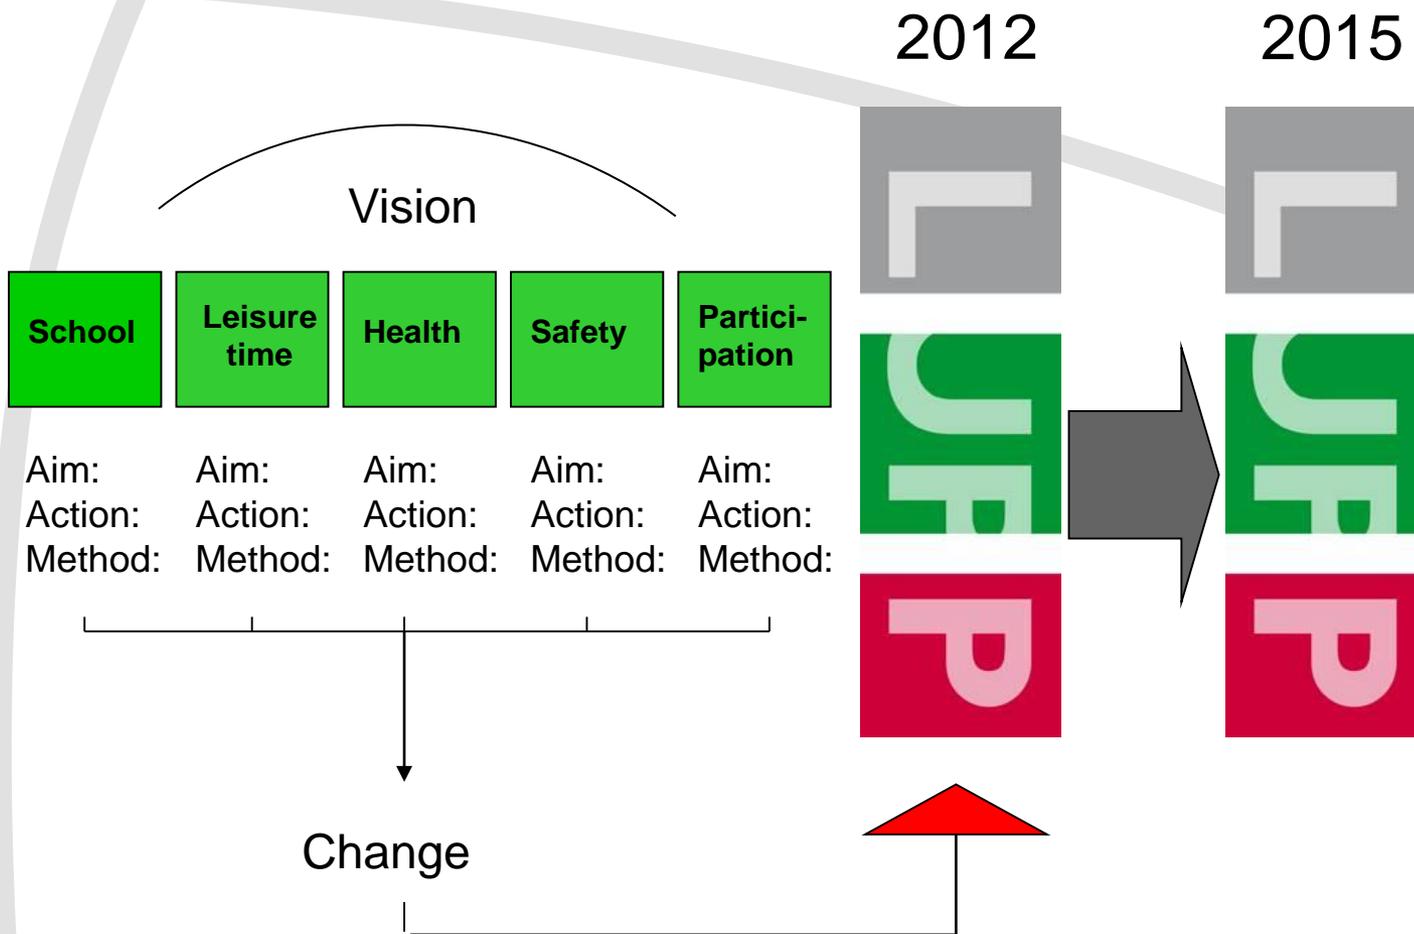

- To move or to stay
- Participation and influence
- Reliance
- Recognition
- School
- Leisure
- Health

From Lupp to Action

From LUPP to Action

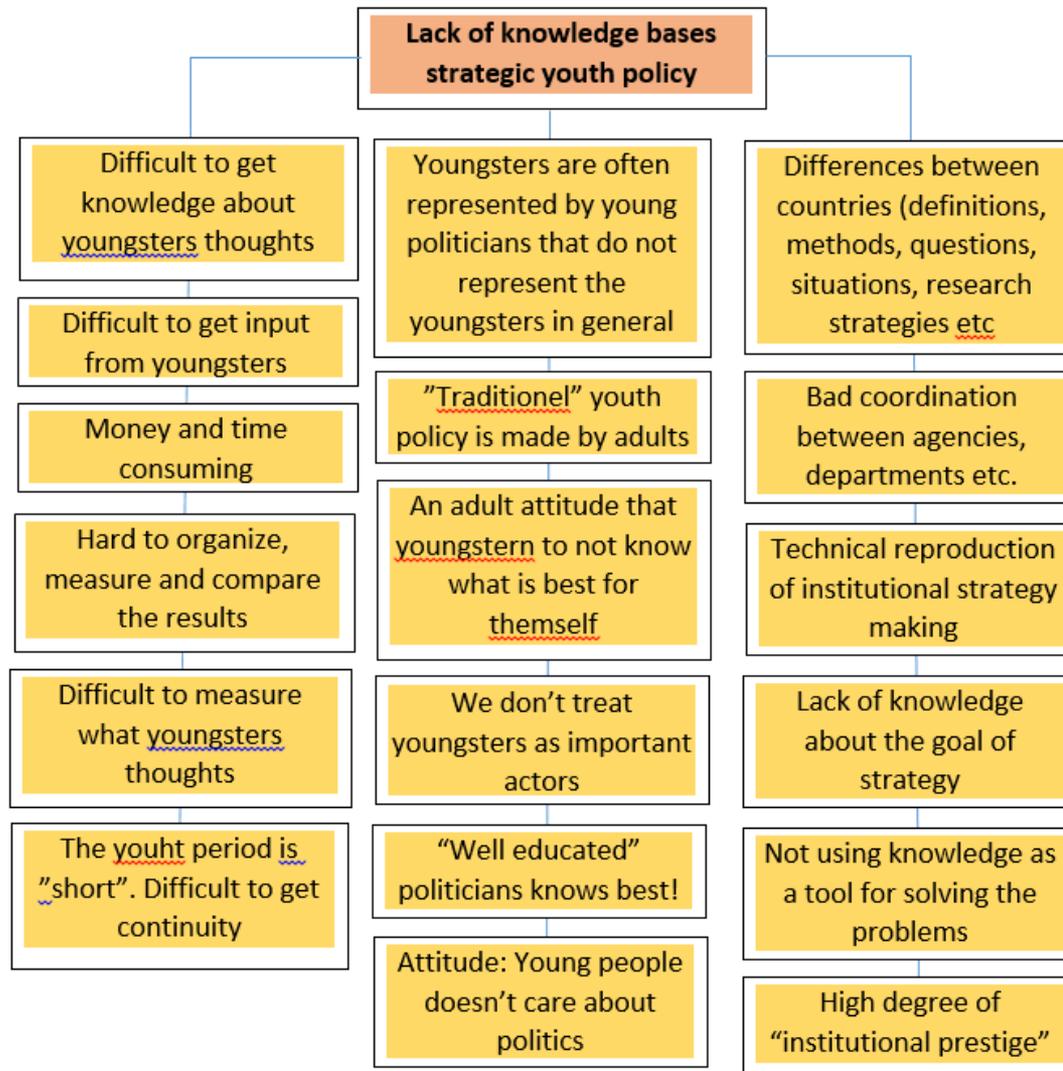

For the gain of the Baltic Sea Region

- Peripheral character causes that young people are less interested in staying in these places.
- The Lupp investigation in the ERB area can help Member States to exchange good practices, provide better knowledge of youth issues, to formulate policies enabling the them to stay in the region.
- Taking joint action in the region of Baltic Sea, we become an example of a possible cross-border cooperation in order to implement the EU Youth Strategy.

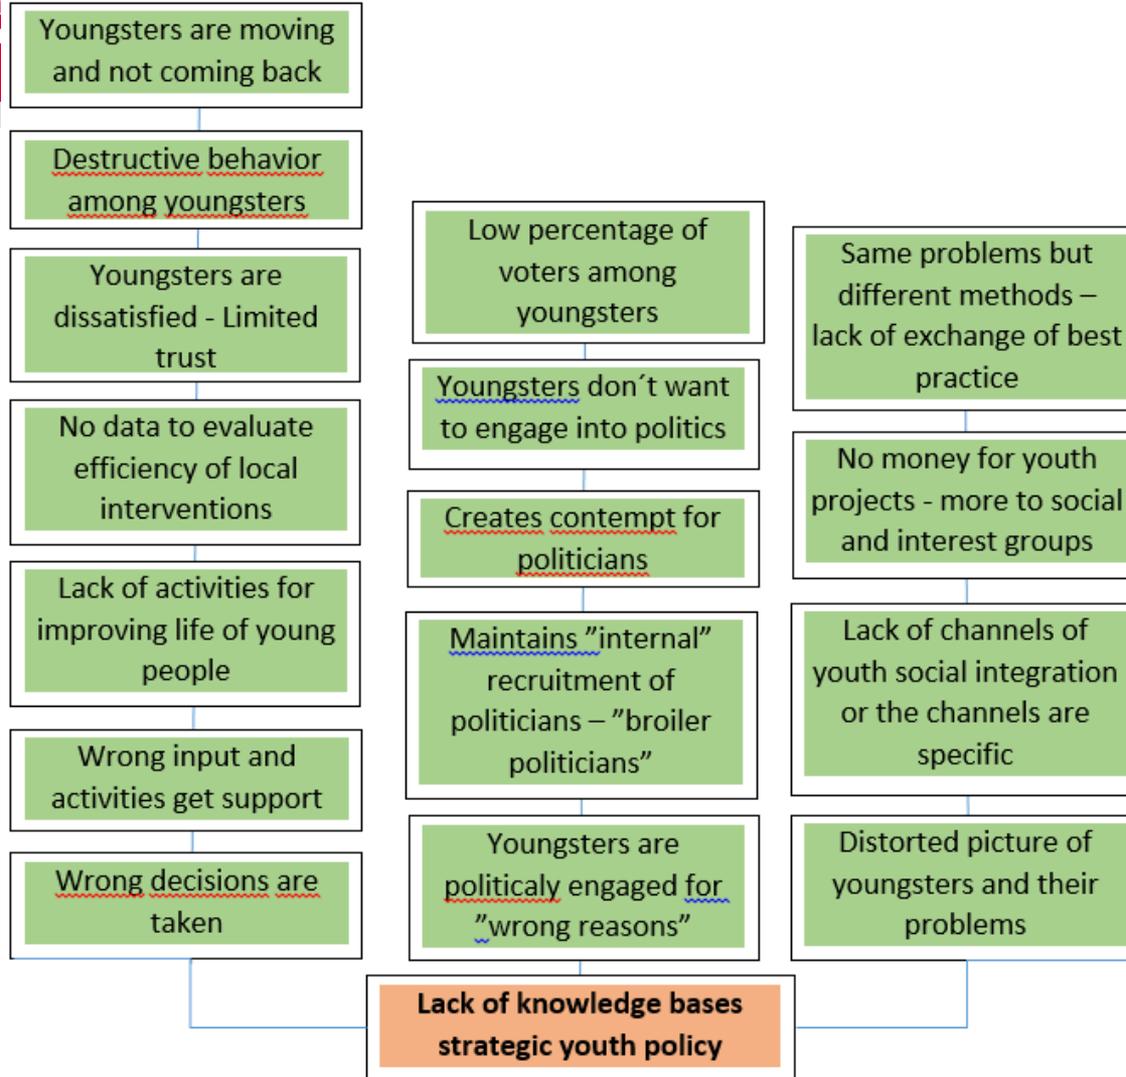

Main problem:

- “Lack of comparable knowledge based strategic youth policy in the municipalities, regions and ERB in the ERB geography.”

Activities

Why cross-border co-operation

- Exchange of ideas, practical solutions, experiences and good practices.
- Create a network between Universities working with youth issues.
- To compare youth's situation within ERB and to create a platform for ERB youth board.
- Complex view on youth situation - Different problems, experts, knowledge, and opinions.
- To show that some problems are universal but we may have different solutions.
- Data for regional/international youth policy to define priorities and objectives for regional programs/agencies. (Swedish institute, CBSS, UBC etc).
- We can prepare a model solution that can be introduced in other countries from ERB area - developed PISA-study.
- To fight with stereotypes about countries.
- To make youngsters in the region feel that they are listened to and that they have had a good up-bringing in the region. This will make them more interested in staying or moving back to the region.

AIM OF THE SYPERB PROJECT

The short term aim:

1. Complete the Survey to national contexts.
2. Create a network between Universities, Municipalities and Regions
3. Complete an application to the South Baltic programme.

The medium term aim:

1. Carry out the Lupp survey in the Euroregion Baltic
2. Create knowledge based strategies for youth politics and activities for youngsters in the Municipalities and in ERB.
3. To investigate if the Lupp might be used in the future as an effective input to the Youth Policy on a wider scale.

The long term aims:

1. Tight knowledge based co-operation on a common platform of statistics (LUPP) within ERB members on youth issues.
2. Activities on all levels: policymaking/political level, input for youth strategies for pan-Baltic organisations, departments/organizational level and in youth exchange.
3. More opportunities for youth in education and employment and make them stay in the Region.

EuroRegion Baltic - ERB

WHY SYPERB?

To create a knowledge based sustainable youth policy.

- To get a knowledge based picture and compare the situation for young people, living in countries at different stages of development and in different socio-economic situations
- to defining what challenges each municipalities stands in front of and based on this create a knowledge based strategic youth policy

For the gain of the ERB Region

- The regions in are peripheral located - young people leaves. The Survey creates knowledge of youth issues to formulate policies on issues affecting them and enabling them to stay in the regions.
- ERB become an example of a possible cross-border cooperation in order to implement the EU Youth Strategy.
- Youth Board of Euroregion Baltic - to come up with a new idea, and to propose actions to develop the situation for young people in the region.

Financing of the main project

1. South Baltic Programme 2014-2020 - Institutional capacity and efficient public administration

Main target group

- Small local actors - e.g. small municipalities, NGOs and public service providers (e.g. schools, cultural institutions, hospitals, police, fire brigade etc.).

Financing of the main project

1. South Baltic Programme 2014-2020

Co-Financing:

Sweden and Denmark: 25%

Lithuania and Poland: 15%.

First call November 2015.

The project will start in April 2016!

Needs analysis

- For the gain of young people
- Young people, living in countries at different stages of development
- and in different socio-economic situations, aspire to live full lives in their societies.
- Certain elements would help in this process
- To defining these elements and what challenges each municipalities stands in front of when it comes to children and youth is a good way to start.
- THE LUPP is the tool to get it analysed.
